

CPC National Training

Known as the transport Managers Qualification, If you operate vehicles over 3.5 tonne commercially (for hire or reward) you are required by law to have someone responsible for those vehicles, to ensure that they are run legally. It can be either yourself or a third party, but the chosen person will need to be 'professionally competent' in understanding the legalities of operating vehicles Nationally and Internationally.

The most effective way of demonstrating professional competence is through the acquisition of a Certificate of Professional Competence (CPC)

* As from January 2012 the National and International CPC qualification has been amalgamated in to one combined qualification.

In order to obtain the new combined National/ International CPC you are required to pass the examinations set by the awarding body (OCR), which after successful completion will result in the issue of a certificate of Professional Competence in freight operations.

Due to the intense nature of the course it is conducted through assisted home study followed by eight days of classroom tuition (as recommended by FTA) with the exams on the ninth day.

It is highly recommended that candidates look through the course material prior to attending the course so that they are conversant with structure and layout and have some understanding of the 30 modules to be covered.

Examinations are held four times a year and are set by OCR

* March

* June

* September

* December

The combined National/ International exams consist of a two hour multiple choice exam which requires 70% for a pass and a single case study exam which requires 50% for a pass

** Candidates are now permitted to take notes and books in to the exam

The combined CPC course is held at Transafe Training Ltd at our Stallingborough centre, it is conducted through assisted home study plus eight days of classroom tuition leading up to the exam.
