

DGSA Consultancy

DGSA (Dangerous Goods Safety Advisor) for road transport

Any Individual /business that transports, loads or unloads dangerous goods by road is required by law to appoint a Dangerous Goods Safety Advisor.

The legislation applies to all shippers, air freight carriers, road carriers and handling agents who are involved in the road transport of dangerous goods above the limits specified under the regulations.

The DGSA is required to perform functions and duties in four main areas:

- * To provide advice to the undertaking on the road transport of dangerous goods.
- * To monitor compliance with the rules governing the road transport of dangerous goods.
- * To prepare reports, whenever accidents occur during the carriage of dangerous goods by road, in which the undertaking has a concern
- * To prepare annual reports on the undertakings activities in the road transport of dangerous goods.

Transafe Training Ltd can help you comply with all these regulations and provide the guidance and advice which will ensure that your staff are properly trained and undertake their duties effectively and safely.

The scope and cost of the DGSA service contract will vary depending on the size of the organization, the frequency and quantity of dangerous goods consignments, etc.

We are happy to provide a quote for this service on request.
